CENTRALIS IRELAND

Dublin is today one of the most sophisticated and highly-established financial services centre in the world.

Ireland's favourable tax regime, including one of the lowest corporation tax rates (12.5%) in the EU, together with extensive tax exemptions, make the country an attractive jurisdiction for foreign direct investment. Its extensive and ever-increasing double taxation treaty network (currently 68 in force) further promote international investment.

Activities such as intra-group financing, aviation leasing, securitisation and holding structures benefit from the generous capital allowances available to overseas companies establishing a business in Ireland. A highly-educated, English-speaking workforce add to the attraction.

Our Dublin office allows us to serve our growing international client base.
